

1 Spike-tle

A monstrous humanoid blending seahorse and turtle traits. It possesses intense, deep-colored skin and a sharp, ridged back.

2 Flora: The kind little fish

An animation about a lonely fish who lives in a dark cave joins a glowing lantern fish on an adventure across the ocean and must rescue him from a fishing net with her courage.

3 Whispers of the Woods, Shout of the Bloom

An illustration capturing the quiet calm of a verdant forest. Against the backdrop of serene greens and earthy browns, a vibrant Rafflesia bloom emerges, its striking red form providing a dramatic focal point and a powerful contrast to the surrounding tranquility.

4 The Bio-Pod's Escape

Rendered in stark one-point perspective, this illustration captures a tense moment within a dark, mysterious laboratory. A glowing liquid pod, the subject of unknown experiments, leaves a luminous trail and a distinct footprint as it makes its escape, hinting at the alien nature and volatile secrets contained within these walls.

5 Dragon's Duty, People's Fear

A compelling illustration presented in two parts, contrasting the light and dark outcomes of a king's transformation into a dragon. One poster shows the king, calm in his draconic state within a cave, driven by his desire to defend his realm. The other portrays his capture and scrutiny by his people, highlighting the fear and misunderstanding that turn a potential guardian into a prisoner.ing at the alien nature and volatile secrets contained within these walls.

- 1 favorite quote

"A meow massages the heart." - Stuart McMillan

- short bio (50-150 words max)

I'm someone who finds energy in vibrancy, particularly in illustration style art. The colours feel refreshing, hype-filled energy appeal to me greatly, much like the dynamic feeling of running and my favourite colour, orange. I guess anything vibrant just resonates with who I am. Besides my appreciation for colourful art and hitting the pavement, I'm also deeply interested in technology and gadgets, often spending my free time reading and exploring the newest advancements in the tech world.

- socmed handle or email

Facebook: - Not Available -

Instagram: - Not Available -

Email: officiallyahmad@protonmail.ch